National Curriculum:

a non-European society that provides contrasts with British history – one study chosen from: early Islamic civilization, including a study of Baghdad c. AD 900; Mayan civilization c. AD 900; Benin (West Africa) c. AD 900-1300.

Through the study of history children have the opportunity to learn about the past and go on to shape the future. The heart of the discerning acquires knowledge, for the ears of the wise seek it out. Proverbs 18:15. As without knowledge 'his words lack insight.' Job 34:35.

Key Concepts:

community & culture (architecture, art, civilisation, inspiration, religion, settlement, trade) conflict & disaster (conquest, military) exploration & invention (discovery, progress) hierarchy & power - (empire, government, law) evidence & interpretation (source)

Key Individuals:

Muhammad, Euclid, al-Mansur, al-Kwarizmi, Ibn al-Haytham (sometimes called Alhazen), Ibn Sin (sometimes called Avicenna), Fatima al-Fihri, Muhammad ibn Musa al-Khwarizmi, Ibn Rushd (sometimes called Averroes), Zaynab Al Shahda, Ibn-Battuta, Genghis Khan

Specific knowledge:

What is Islam and how did it begin?

How far ahead of parts of Europe was Baghdad at this point in history?

What were the greatest achievements and who were some of the greatest thinkers of early Islamic civilisation?

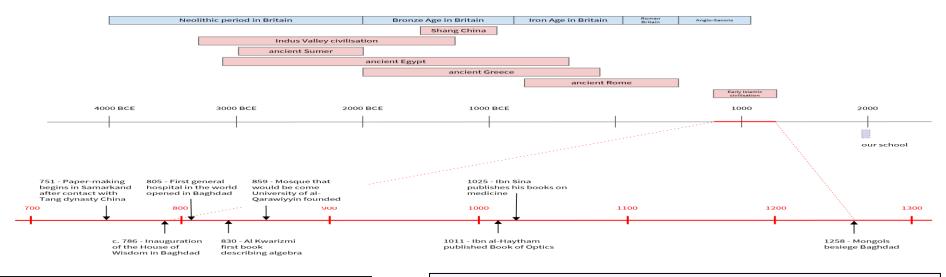

What brought the 'Golden Age of Early Islamic Civilisation' to an end and what is the legacy of this period?

The planning document contains the knowledge for each of these questions. At the end of each session the children should be able to answer that sessions key question drawing on the knowledge from the planning.

Skills:

Understand chronology – a timeline shows a period of time. Time is linear and we can show when things happened. A timeline can be used to show blocks of time or individual events.

How time periods overlap and do not happen in isolation. How we can therefore compare and contrast time periods.

How people can be brought together by religious views.

Use maps to show the spread of ideas.
